LARGEST RELOCATION OF AIRLINES IN LAX HISTORY IS MORE PROGRESS IN CREATING A WORLD-CLASS AIRPORT

(Los Angeles, California – March 21, 2017) In May of 2017, Delta Air Lines will set off a move of airlines never before seen at a major U.S. airport.

Airport and airline staff will relocate 21 airlines as part of Delta's move from Terminals 5 and 6 to Terminals 2 and 3. Much of the work will take place on May 12, 14 and 16, immediately following the last flight operations each day, and continue into the early-morning hours of the following day.

Los Angeles World Airport's (LAWA) Board of Airport Commissioners (BOAC) approved a lease and license agreement last year for Delta to relocate to terminals on the north side of the airport. Delta is planning improvements valued at up to $1.9 billion over the next seven years that would modernize and connect Terminals 2 and 3 to the Tom Bradley International Terminal (TBIT).

"Delta's move is one more element of LAX's massive modernization effort which continues the transformation of the airport and will improve the guest experience," said Commission President Sean Burton. "While moving 21 airlines over three nights is a monumental task, Delta and the LAWA team have been planning and preparing for months to ensure a smooth transition."

"This move furthers our progress towards our vision of a Gold Standard Airport," said Los Angeles World Airports Chief Executive Officer Deborah Flint. "The coordination and cooperation amongst the airlines involved has been impressive and mirrors the importance that we all place on the guest experience at LAX. The immediate result is more efficient airline operations amongst partner carriers, and facility improvements that will be made in Terminals 2 and 3."

During the move, Delta flights will operate from as many as four terminals (2, 3, 5 and 6) on certain days. The airline will be in constant communication with its customers, providing real-time information on departure and arrival terminals and gates through the Fly Delta app, text messages, emails and additional channels. LAWA is working closely with Delta and the relocating airlines to keep the traveling public informed using advertising to communicate the move to passengers several weeks before, during, and after the move. Social media platforms and websites will be used to raise awareness of the upcoming move, and signs will be posted in the Central Terminal Area (CTA), in terminals and on airport shuttle buses.

Following the moves, airlines will resume operations in their new locations. A total of 28 airlines will be affected by the realignment, which began in January when American Airlines swapped four gates in Terminal 6 for four gates held by Delta in Terminal 5. While schedules may shift, it is anticipated Qatar, Hainan and Copa operations will move to the Tom Bradley International Terminal (TBIT) as early as April, with Copa checking in at Terminal 3. Key changes as a result of the May 12-17 realignment include:

print boarding passes, and check terminal and gate information before coming to LAX. They should also arrive to the airport earlier than normal. Once at LAX, passengers should check flight and gate status on flight information display boards in each terminal to ensure they are in the correct location.

Delta plans to deploy hundreds of people on site to help guide passengers the week of the move, and LAX Guest Experience Members (GEMS), dressed in blue, and Volunteer Information Professionals (VIPs), in red, will also be available to provide guidance to passengers needing assistance.

A webpage with move information and a map showing the location of each airline at the conclusion of the terminal realignment can be found at www.LAXisHappening.com/LAXontheMOVE.

Updates will be provided each night of the move and can be found at www.laxishappening.com, www.lawa.org and on Twitter by following #LAXontheMOVE, @LAAirportPD and @flyLAXairport.

Following the move, Delta will operate 23 gates at LAX alongside many of its airline partners, including Aeromexico, Virgin Atlantic and WestJet. Later, Delta is planning a secure connection to TBIT which would enable seamless access to additional partners, including Air France-KLM, Alitalia, China Eastern, China Southern and Korean Air. The proposed facility would also offer convenient passenger flows, improved gate-area seating, and a world-class concession program featuring local chefs and restaurants in partnership with Westfield Corporation.
