LAX Traveler Services

Delta Air Lines, Northwest Airlines Agree to Merge
Delta Air Lines and Northwest Airlines, two long time carriers at LAX, will be consolidating their operations at the airport and nationwide in 2009, according an announcement made Oct. 29. Delta ranks fourth in passengers served at LAX, handling 4.8 million travelers in 2007 at Terminal 5. Northwest is the eighth largest carrier at LAX, serving 2.2 million passengers in 2007 from Terminal 2. Passengers holding boarding passes and electronic tickets will still have either “Delta” or “Northwest” printed on their documents for the near term. Eventually, flight operations will be operated from Terminal 5. For more information, click on http://news.delta.com/article_display.cfm?article_id=11176

LAX Airport Opens New Restaurants Featuring Popular Southern California Favorites
La Brea Bakery, known for fresh-baked artisan breads matching a variety of breakfast, lunch and dinner menu offerings, has opened in three terminals, Terminal 1, Terminal 2, and Terminal 7. Baja Fresh joins La Brea Bakery at Terminal 7. On the Border Mexican Grill and Cantina serves passengers in Terminal 4 with freshly prepared traditional Mexican favorites and mesquite-grilled specialties. Air France Will Refund or Reroute LAX-Heathrow Fliers
Nicolas Petteau, spokesman for Air France in Paris, said the last LAX-Heathrow flight will be Nov. 5 and the last Heathrow-LAX flight will be Nov. 6. He said the airline is contacting passengers booked after those dates and offering them three choices: either fly LAX to Paris with Air France and connect to Heathrow, connect to New York (JFK) or Atlanta (ATL) and then fly to Heathrow with Delta Air Lines, or get a full refund.
